

Water to Share

*Water, Water here and there
Is a resource that we all share.
Protecting it is what we must do
So it stays around for me and for you.
Louisiana waters depend on us
To keep them clean without a fuss.
If you see someone about to dirty it,
Stop them and tell them they need to quit.
Conserving our water will help too
So we will have water our whole life through.
To do this we all must change our ways
By turning off faucets without any delays.
Enjoying our waters is easy to do
On rivers, in the gulf, or on the bayous.
Fishing, boating and swimming in the sun
Without the water would be no fun.
I hope this poem has taught you a lot
That conserving our water is such a great thought.*

*Craig Matisse
John Curtis Christian School, Jefferson Parish*